H. M. Cottrell, Agricultural Commissioner of Rock Island, Moves Offices Here: Will Stay Until September When Big Acreage Will Be Sold by State Land Board

Colorado Springs is to be the center of much activity this summer in the setting of state lands. Prof. H. M. Cottrell, agricultural commissioner of the Rock Island lines, arrived here yesterday morning and opened offices, to remain until sometime in September, when an auction of 200,000 acres of state land will be held in Colorado Springs by the state land board. Mr. Cottrell will have an able body of assistants here, and together they will cooperate with the state board and County Agricultural Agents in creating interest in the state lands among prospective settlers. E. C. Daniels of the Rock Island is already on the ground and has opened immigration offices in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the Burns building. He will furnish any desired information along settlement lines.

Maximum, $20 Acres.

Mr. Cattell has just come from Denver where he conferred with the state land board and convinced that body that the maximum amount of land to each settler should be 25 acres or 640 sq. ft. He is enthusiastic about the work before him and declares that the conditions connected with the

"I will get the best of the settlers," he said, "and I will make the final payments on their land, at the saving cash," said Mr. Cattell when seen in his private car yesterday afternoon. "Graham has been taking 75 cents per acre, but now it will be 50 cents principally because it gives the settler 30 days to make final payment."

Dr. Alexander Lamborn came with him in a motor car. The physician is to be at Orister Bay until late tomorrow, to give the colonel another examination.

Asked tonight if he had been impressed by the urging of delegations that want him to stay out of the race for governor, Colonel Roosevelt said: "I have told nobody that I will run for governor."

When it was suggested that strong pressure had been put upon him to leave the state, he said: "I have never been asked to leave the state."

warding the governorship, he answered, "Yes, both ways."

He was delegating from Maine with Herbert F. Gardner, Progressive candidate for governor at the head, urged Colonel Roosevelt to decline to make the race for governor. Mr. Gardner urged that the colonel should run against himself for the colonelship in 1916 when the Progressives will be in the country, over which he will lead the ticket.

Gardner said the colonel, while giving no decisive word, had conveyed the impression that he would not run for the governorship.

A good idea of the possibilities of a 320-acre piece of ground in this country may be gathered from a report that Contrell has just made to the state board in Denver. This report was submitted to the board in support of a contention that 320 acres, rather than 640 acres, should be made the minimum in the purchase of state lands.

Minister Reads Startling Statements to Congress; Promises Huerta's Resignation

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—The differences which have arisen between the United States and Mexico were the subject of a report read before the senate and chamber of deputies this afternoon by the acting foreign minister, Roberto Esteva Ruiz, who declared the trouble between the two countries was bound up with the internal conflict in Mexico "owing to the assistance and support furnished by the United States to the revolutionists."

The report expressed readiness on the part of the Huerta government to negotiate with the Constitutionalists for the establishment of a new pro-temperament. He said that the government should be prepared to meet the demands of the revolutionists, but that they should do so.

In his report, Senor Esteva Ruiz expressed an earnest plea to the Constitutionalists to meet the Huerta government half way by cooperating in the establishment of a new provisional government, thus securing the country's political pacification.

"Huerta Will Resign If—"

The foreign minister, in this con-visional administration, which would assure political peace in Mexico and make clear President Huerta's willingness to resign, if thereby such peace could be secured."

The foreign minister made it clear that ratification by the senate and chamber of the protocols signed at Niagara Falls was not sought, inasmuch as the protocols were of a nature that did not require the sanction of the legislative body, the simple approval of the president sufficing.

He reviewed at length all the events leading up to the peace conference and in connection with the Carranza revolution and said:

"The whole policy of the United States, affirmed by President Huerta, was to secure the resignation of Huerta, his willingness to resign, provided the resignation should bring about the desired object, which was pacification of the country."

The minister designated the policy of the American government as giving satisfaction for the Tampico incidents and a war indemnity reasonable and just. He declared intervention by an outside power in the internal affairs of Mexico had avoided as a principle for which was true that the protocols involved the obligation of establishing a provisional government to replace General Huerta, on the other hand, the people stipulated that States seemed clearly to aim at giving support to the Caranzista revolutionists." This fact had convinced him that no international settlement was possible which did not seek a way to bring power.

FOLLOW GOD, URGES SUNDAY'S ASSISTANT

Rev. L. K. Peacock Preaches Short Sermon to Men at Princess

An enthusiastic crowd of men nearly filled the Princess theater yesterday noon when the Rev. L. K. Peacock preached an inspiring sermon in the place of Billy Sunday who was speaking to the ranchmen at Calhan at that time.

The service opened with several good hymns and the Temple quartet also gave some selections. Greatly appreciated by the audience. After a prayer by Wade H. Johnson, Mr. Peacock stated that it wasn't an easy thing for him to speak when Sunday was expected to talk in the first place. "But," continued Dr. Peacock, "although I feel that people will think I am imitating Mr. Sunday, I want it understood that I am not; that isn't my business."

Mr. Peacock took his text from Luke 9:57: "Lord, I will follow thee, whithersoever thou goest."

"I like the ring of those words," he said, "but don't think that it is an easy thing to say. It takes the hardest thing in the world to keep your vows and promises once they are made. Men often decide to lead a Christian life in a moment of enthusiasm without realizing at the time what the difficulties are and the heaviness of the burden."

Must Give Up Possessions.
 "There is the story of a young man who asked Christ what he lacked to become a follower. He had kept all the ten commandments throughout his life. But when Jesus told him that he would have to give up all his worldly possessions in order to store up treasure in heaven, he turned away unwilling to make that sacrifice. The unwilling to become followers of Christ and are enthusiastic for God, but when we are tried, like the young man, we are found wanting. Are you men enough to give up everything?"

"I met a man in the east who admitted to me that he was beginning to get away from the idea of a personal devil. I told him that I believed in a personal devil more than anything else at times. You men here try and live as Christ would have you for 48 hours and see if you don't believe in one too. It takes will-power to change your life and habits, and that is when the personal devil comes to you."

Moral Cowards.

"There are moral cowards and physical cowards," he said, "and some of the biggest cowards of the bunch are the political cowards who are afraid to come out in favor of clean living."

"What are you men going to do on the day of judgment if you haven't followed Christ? Why wait until then? He wants you now. He is calling all the time. 'Come unto me.' Don't you men want him too? Make up your minds to follow in his steps right now and be able to say like the old pilot, 'Jesus Savior Pilot Me.' That's all you men. God bless you and thank you."

BIG COLLEGES WANT TO HEAR SUNDAY PREACH

Efforts still are being exerted to secure Billy Sunday to carry on religious work among the universities and colleges of the middle west similar to that done at the University of Pennsylvania last year. Because of the large number of campaigns already scheduled for the evangelist he will be unable to do the work.

Secretary Harry L. Heinzman of the Y. M. C. A. conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., wired Mr. Sunday's secretary as follows: "Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Manhattan, Wisconsin, Northwestern and Michigan, enrolling from 2,000 to 5,000 men each, earnestly desire you for repetition of University of Pennsylvania work between October 4 and 18. Necessary to be at Missouri and Wisconsin on Sunday and Monday. If you can give only eight days, would suggest following schedule: October 11, Manhattan; 12, Kansas; 13, Nebraska; 14, Iowa; 15, Northwestern; 16, Michigan; 17, travel and rest; 18, Wisconsin. Additional days would enable you to include Missouri and professional schools in Kansas City and lighten travel. All our secretaries are anticipating this to mark new epoch in student work. If desirable, one of our men will accompany you. Secretaries in session here adjourn Sunday night. Wire me before that date."

Tabernacle to Be Sold Tomorrow

The Cascade avenue tabernacle will be sold for cash at a public auction tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the grounds. N. C. Crowley, C. B. Lauterman and the Rev. R. P. There also is 368,000 square feet of two-ply subflooring on top of the structure. Because of the careful construction of the building, the materials are damaged but slightly and should bring a good price.

"I used to be a farmer," Sunday said last night in announcing the auction. "And I have often thought of what a crackjack of a feed shed this tabernacle would make."

ROMANCE BEGUN YEARS AGO ENDS IN WEDDING

Donald Williams of Oklahoma City Claims Colorado Springs Girl as His Bride

Following a romance that had its beginning in Texarkana, Ark., several years ago when they first met, Donald Williams of Oklahoma City and Miss Isabella Sample of Colorado Springs were married yesterday morning at St. Mary's church. The Rev. Father Abel performed the ceremony. The bride had joined the church the day before. The bride has a wide circle of friends in Colorado Springs and many attended the wedding ceremony yesterday.

Mr. Williams is a graduate of Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn., a Greek letter fraternity man, a member of the Elks lodge and widely known through the south and east in business circles. He is a member of the United States chamber of commerce and for the last few years has been identified with the organization of banks and commercial bodies in New Orleans, Nashville and other cities. He is also the western representative of the Great Western Petroleum company. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will leave in a few days for Chicago where they expect to make their home and where the bridegroom will engage in realty and colonization work.

The wedding yesterday morning was a smart affair. The bride wore an imported French gown of white and carried an immense bouquet of Sweet William in honor of the bridegroom's name. The sanctuary was filled with other blossoms. Miss Sample met the man of her childhood years at a visit in Texarkana several years ago. Correspondence was maintained between them and subsequently Williams came to Colorado Springs to celebrate the wedding.

Sunday Thanks Mayor and All Departments

Billy Sunday publicly thanked Mayor McKesson last night for the courtesy shown him and his party by the city officials and departments. "I see my friend, the mayor, down there with the Masons," he said during his little informal talk to the crowd before beginning his sermon. "Right now I want to say that I have never been in a city where more courtesy has been shown me. The police department, fire department, city and county officials—all have done everything in their power to aid me. I want to thank you, Mayor."

"You think this is mere talk. I notice all the little things done for me even if I don't always speak of them. And I always appreciate it. I happen to know something of the traffic or distances in cities. Here your police department allows you to leave your automobiles right out here in the street. All they ask is that you leave a path way just wide enough for an automobile to pass through. Now, they wouldn't do that in many places. They probably would tell you that parking ground had been provided two or three blocks away and make you take your cars over to it. Here they are anxious to help you. You ought to appreciate it. I certainly do. And they have done other things, they have done everything they could to help these meetings. I want to thank the mayor and all the departments of the city and county administrations."

BILLY SUNDAY PREACHES SERMON ON THE BEAUTIES OF THE TWENTY-THIRD PSALM

Lines Just as Inspiring, He Declares, as When David Wrote Them 3,000 Years Ago

At the afternoon service in the tabernacle yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Sunday took for his subject, "The Twenty-third Psalm."

Three thousand years have rolled into history since David wrote it. The harp upon which he used to play to charm King Saul in his melancholy moods, the book of law out of which he read and from which he received his inspiration to the will of God, the sling with which he used to hurl the stone, the giant walls of Jerusalem, the palace in which he lived, the stone upon which he sat when he governed the people, all have crumbled into dust and they could not possibly be found today by any possibility of means or research yet this Psalm is just as inspiring to me as the day he wrote it.

To me nothing is sweeter than the truth of it. It comes to me like the song of many angels. I am sure the infant Jesus used to repeat it as he knelt by his mother's knee, for every Jewish child was taught familiarity with the Psalms and prophecies.

Little children have listened to it at their mother's side. Pilgrims, pushing their way over roads hard and rough to travel have received inspiration.

Prisoners in their cell have forgotten their chains as they say, "The Lord is my shepherd."

Martyrs have gone to the stake and become friends to the pain.

Old men and women, young men and maidens have pillowed their heads upon this omnipotent, unchangeable words and have swept into glory to meet the Lord, whom not having seen they love.

A friend of mine was preaching in Freeport, Illinois, and was being entertained in the home of a superannuated Baptist minister and the old man lay dying.

Never Forget Jesus. He went and said, "Good morning, Father Chapin, how are you?"

The old man would stare blankly and say, "I never saw you before; who are you?"

My friend would tell him and he would say, "Oh, yes; how easily I forget!"

My friend would return at noon and step to the bedside and ask the same question.

"How are you, Father Chapin?" and the old man would gaze and say, "How did you get in the house? I never saw you before."

"Father, do you know me?" and he looked and she said, "I am Ruth, your daughter Ruth."

The old man said: "No, but God never gave us a child. Their hearts were breaking, and my friend bent low and said:

"Father Chapin, do you know Jesus Christ?" and at the mention of his name the old man's heart leaped from the bed. He sat upright, looked about and said:

"Who said Jesus? Know him?" I preached his blessed gospel for 45 years and he, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil."

Only God He Needs. Different names have been assigned this portion of God's word by different commentators. One man called it the creed psalm. He was asked in a meeting like this to stand up and give his creed, and he repeated the Twenty-third Psalm. He said: "That is all the creed I know, all I feel I need. My mother taught me to repeat it 25 years ago and I have done so ever since."

I don't understand it. I am just now beginning to learn the A. B. C. of which I can coin a few words which express in a limited degree, the blessings that have filled my soul because I have tried to follow the God that inspired David to write it.

Another man called it the minstrel song, and that is a good name, too. It's singing and winging its way up and down the earth, causing men and women to forget their sorrow, charming away grief, driving away their evil thoughts and wicked desires.

Prisoners in their cells have been inspired and felt their chains snap. I think it has charmed many drunkards from their cups, more gamblers from their cards, and as such it is still winging and singing its way and it will not cease to do what it has done until it has fulfilled its earthly mission, then it will wing its flight back to the throne of the God that gave it and fold its wings like a tired dove, to go up and down the earth no more. Its song has charmed you; its melody has charmed me. That's the reason I'm trying to be a Christian and preach to you.

Another called it the Psalm of the Lark. "And that's a good name, too. That bird only sings when on the wing. I'm not talking about our common larks. I'm talking about the English song bird, and they who have been privileged to hear it tell me that the higher it mounts the sweeter grows its melody, until the song seems sweetest after the bird itself has passed from vision."

A man in Detroit received a telegram telling him that his mother in Liverpool was dying, and to hurry home. He took a steamer and hurried to England, reaching there three days before his mother died. They dug a grave in the family lot, and as they were lowering the body into the grave, near the grave stood a bunch of shrubbery and out from it burst a heavy of larks and they circled around the open grave and mounted high and began to sing.

Those people instinctively forgot their burden and their grief and stood gazing or into the visible space, and after the birds had passed beyond the point of vision they stood gazing off into the skies, bending their ears to catch the faint song.

And I believe there are people today standing by their grave, where you have buried your manhood and womanhood and the noble thoughts God gave you to be decent, and you have piled the earth on top of them.

The Lord is my Shepherd. I choose him, and I'm going to heaven. You can go to hell if you want to. I can give you the best spring tonic on the market. It beats any patent medicine or any other kind of treatment. It's the first chapter of Joshua, the first 30 verses. Read it and take a good dose of it. It tones us up morally and lifts us to a higher plane.

There may be times in your life when you feel, "Well, now, the experience David had are just like mine, or mine like his." and the psalms of David were forged on the anvil of experience in trying to serve and do the will of God.

So I am sure that David wrote that psalm. Possibly he used to sing it for old King Saul when he had the gout, or the appendicitis, or the peritonitis, and when he felt lousy, and I have often tried to imagine hearing David sing it, and if he did sing it as a song how he must have placed emphasis upon the personal pronouns.

The Lord is MY Shepherd; I shall not want. "He maketh ME to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth ME beside the still waters."

I never could understand why God's sheep want to leave the green pastures of God and go down the alleys to chew tin cans with the devil's Billy Goats.

God had done all that for him and that song was his experience. I read the other day of a French marquis who was raised in his grand and exalted estate from very humble surroundings.

He himself had been a shepherd, and as Kipling says, "I feel we forget," he had in the palace what was known as the "Shepherd's Room," and in that room he had reproduced hills, valleys, trees, rocks, water courses, paths, just as he knew them when he had herding his sheep, and he used to go into that room every day and sit for an hour or two and gaze upon the reproduction of the scenes of his youth, lest he might become "puffed up" and forget.

You reach the place where you accept Jesus as your Savior before you accept the Twenty-third Psalm.

It is a great thing, sir, I don't care who you are. Sit down and think of the benefits that accrued to you by accepting Christ.

You yourself may be an old cussier, an old booze fighter, an old libertine, and yet there are benedictions and blessings that surround you due to religion and because you have listed in a community where are religious influences.

So wonderfully did the Jews reverence God that a Jew would never step on a piece of parchment without first looking to see if the name of Jehovah was written on the other side.

Christianity is the biggest asset you ever looked at when it comes to a community. Sit down and take a retrospective view of life. Think what a good for nothing, useless, degenerate reprobate you would be if it wasn't for Christianity. Then don't sneer and scoff at God. Sit down and review it a little bit.

The position of the Twenty-third Psalm is significant. It follows the Twenty-second. It follows the Psalm of the cross. You have to reach the point where you see Jesus crucified on the cross for your sins, accept him as your Savior, before you can say:

The Lord is my Shepherd. I shall not want. On a street corner every day, and listen to those old God-forsaken cusses spitting and spewing at the name of Jesus Christ.

I believe Jesus sent this tabernacle to save those of you who have become a little chasty over your success. A shepherd always stands between the sheep and danger.

COUNCIL WILL FRAME NEW LAW GOVERNING DRIVERS

Present Ordinance Is Said to Be Unsatisfactory; Auto Drivers Claim Discrimination

Measures regulating tourist drivers in Colorado Springs, with a view particularly to lessening the number of tourist vehicles in the city, were discussed by the city council in committee of the whole Tuesday afternoon and again yesterday afternoon. The council did not come to any final decision on the points discussed, but the draft of a proposed ordinance will be brought before the council Saturday morning, and the whole matter will be taken up at that time.

The meeting Saturday morning will take the place of tomorrow morning's meeting of the council, which probably will be postponed, as several of the commissioners will be out of town, participating in the Chamber of Commerce tour to eastern El Paso county.

Three particular questions have been raised in the informal discussions of the council concerning the ordinance. One is the proposal to raise the license of all tourist drivers. This, Mayor McKesson said yesterday, may be done. A second proposal is to impose a limitation so that licenses may be issued only to people who are citizens of the state of Colorado.

This regulation is fairly certain of being incorporated into the measure. The third question was raised with regard to the discrimination which the drivers of tourist automobiles claim is made against them in favor of tourist hacks.

The license fees of the automobile drivers are double those of the hack drivers. Just what action the council will take on these protests could not be predicted yesterday, as the commissioners so far are divided in their opinions on this point.

Mr. Perkins was a former president of the Burlington line. The card was made from a picture sent last year by the Chamber of Commerce to P. S. Rustin of Chicago, passenger traffic manager of the Burlington. The card is printed in sepia tone and hundreds are distributed daily on the Burlington trains.

ity to Ask New Bids for Printing

The city council yesterday morning considered its action in awarding the contract for the printing for the suing quarter to the Gowdy Printing company, voted to reject all bids for the contract, and to advertise for a new contract. This action was the result of a protest by E. H. Joslin, whose bid was $2.50 lower per month than that of the Gowdy company. Joslin was a former bidder and was awarded the contract for the printing of the original awarding of the contract.
The Gowdy company was on the recommendation of Commissioner E.
Bunk. Eubank thinks that the council ought to give the contract to the Gowdy company, even at a higher figure, because he said the city recently changed
a style of the monthly report, and a result the Gowdy company, which did the contract, was put to the expense of securing new type. Joslin
in a protest to the council said:
"I was astonished when I learned that the contract had been awarded on bid $2.50 higher per month than my bid. I don't think it is right. I wish that the council would reconsider and award the contract to the one who is entitled to it."

underwent an operation for appendicitis, and the 2-year-old daughter of D. D. Goleton of 2416 North Weber street underwent an operation for pyelitis. Both patients were reported at night as doing nicely.

Sinton's Weekly Yo-oort Letter

Published Every Saturday and Sunday in The Gazette and Telegraph.
In our letter of last week we showed that Metchnikoff, the great scientist, concluded that by prolonging the life of man to its normal span, it would be possible to add greatly to the sum total of human happiness, because the life of man would then consist more largely of that period of old age, not denyed that an old age of pain and discomfort is far from desirable. But it is fair to assume that anything which would conduce to prolonging human life ought also to add to the strength and vigor of old age, and therefore make it more desirable.

He also concluded that intestinal putrefaction was the greatest obstacle to a hale and hearty long life in animals as well as man. THEREFORE, DRINK SOUR MILK.

But several people have met the writer and said that Yo-oort had a tendency to induce constipation in them, saying that this was directly contrary to what is claimed for it as an anti-putrefactive agent. On being asked if they took the milk with their meals, they replied that they had not.

It should be recalled, in this connection, that small quantities of food of any kind taken between meals have a tendency to bind. This is because there is not enough volume to the food to arouse the normal peristaltic action of the bowels. Naturally, since it is completely digestible, and leaves no residue, Yo-oort might easily aggravate this condition. When eaten with the meals, (as is best), however, Yo-oort has a very different effect. We live in an age in which it is unnecessary to eat such a large quantity of nourishment as was requisite in the olden times, when the chief occupation of man was tilling the fields, and the tendency of modern meals is to furnish all varied meals to avoid that "stuffy" feeling.

A glass of Yo-oort (one-half a pound) adds considerably to the volume of a meal when taken in conjunction with it, and the water contained in it remains in the stomach long enough before complete digestion to maintain this larger volume. Unlike coffee, which often causes one to break out into a sweat as the result of the water. Yo-oort starts up a peristaltic movement of the stomach, which is transmitted to the intestines, and generally causes an evacuation of the bowels to take place a few minutes after meal time. A number of our patrons who take a glass of Yo-oort regularly at meal time, have told us that this Bulgarian milk has been remarkably efficient in overcoming chronic constipation without bringing about the equally injurious condition of diarrhoea.

DRINK YO-OORT, AND LIVE LONG.

DR. CHARLES R. HENDERSON SAYS AMERICAN PRISONS AND JAILS ARE CRIME SCHOOLS

U. S. Prison Commissioner and Noted Soci- ologist Urges Better Conditions in Jails

that the state and county prisons of America with few exceptions are hotbeds of disease and filth is the contention of Prof. Charles Richmond Henderson, of Chicago, United States prison commissioner, who is spending a few days in Colorado Springs during his tour of the west. Dr. Henderson, who has been attending the recent sociological conference in Boulder, is an expert on all matters connected with prison improvement and for the last several years has been a member of the International Prison commission.
He has visited nearly every part of the world in his search for suggestions
and improvements, including Germany, Austria-Hungary, Italy and France.
"The great majority of the prisons
in America have been planned with no reference to sanitary conditions," said Prof. Henderson yesterday, "and no attempt has been made to confer with the health boards or medical associations in the building of these institutions. Consequently they are of a type condemned by all the medical fraternities in the country and a disgrace to civilization. Nearly all are built on the same plan. The cells open into corridors instead of the street, and receive little or no ventilation. Men are crowded together in the cells and spread germs and disease. While visiting a state jail the other day I noticed a state jail the other frame work was found to be covered with dust. This is how our jails here become centers of disease."

Gives German Methods.
"In Germany where I have visited more than 50 prisons, special care is given to sanitary conditions, and the buildings themselves are erected and planned with scientific care with the aid of the health boards and architects.
There the cells have their windows opening on the street, and there are no corridors between them and the air and sunlight which are the greatest of germ killers."
"One of the great evils of our jails," said Prof. Henderson, "is the lack of attention given to the individual. I have seen 50 men herded into one room

together in a prison, and the clean, innocent man who has accidentally strayed in runs the best of chances to catch disease from his companions.
Tuberculosis and pneumonia are the two great diseases in our jails. Here again I refer to Germany," said Dr.
Henderson, "where they have only single cells, overhead the occupant suffers no evil effect from the confinement."

Interested in Colorado Way.
Prof. Henderson was greatly interested in the work being done by convicts on Colorado roads when he visited the convict camp in company with Warden Tynan several days ago. He was especially interested in the plan by which the convicts were put on their honor not to escape, and collected data on the results of this system.
Prof. Henderson, who is a teacher of sociology in the University of Chicago, will attend the International Prison congress to be held in London
July 25, 1915, representing the United States Prison commission. He will first go to Russia and Scandinavia where he will inspect the jails and will then join the congress.
He will make every effort to persuade the commission to send Warden Tynan of the Colorado state penitentiary to the conference with a series of moving pictures that he has taken illustrating the work of convict road builders. Tynan has already used these pictures with good effect and Dr. Henderson considers that they will be invaluable next summer.
"Prof. Henderson is the greatest hindrance to prison improvements, according to Dr. Henderson, lies in the fact that politics play a big part in the appointment of wardens and other officials. They are not trained men and the majority have had no previous experience of any kind. They are merely men who have been given the job on account of some political affiliation, and have little interest in the work."

All DEPUTIES WILL BE PAID THROUGH COUNTY

Conference Yesterday Results in Statement of Attitude During Present Railroad Strike

The attitude of county officials with regard to the Short Line strike must be strictly impartial, and any men who may be appointed as deputy sheriffs to aid in enforcing the laws and protecting property during the strike must be men who are not prejudiced in the controversy.

This was the understanding arrived at yesterday at a conference in the offices of the county commissioners in the court house, in which the three commissioners, District Attorney James Purcell, Sheriff George Birdsell, James Stewart, representing the striking trainmen, and Jesse H. Waters, representing the Short Line, participated.

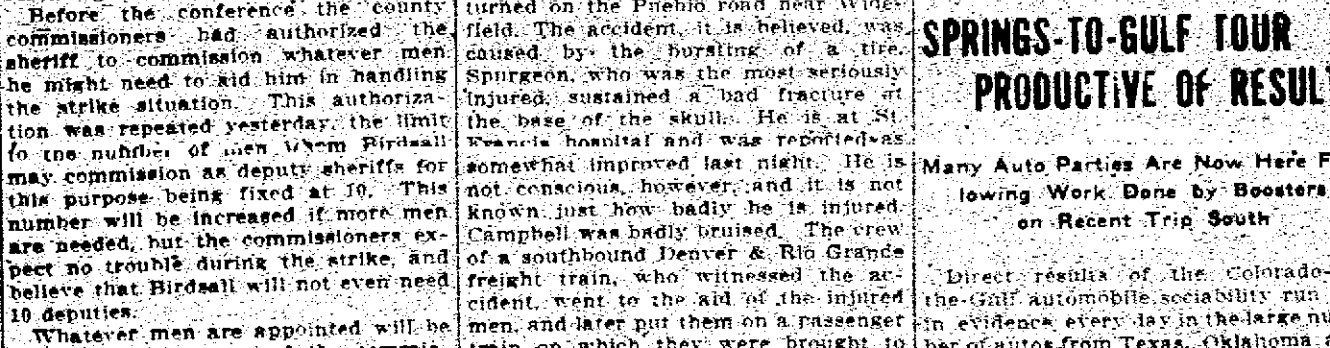

Before the conference the county commissioners had authorized the sheriff to commission whatever men he might need to aid him in handling the strike situation. This authorization was repeated yesterday, the limit to the number of men whom Birdsell may commission as deputy sheriffs for this purpose being fixed at 10. This number will be increased if more men are needed, but the commissioners expect no trouble during the strike, and believe that Birdsell will not even need 10 deputies.

Whatever men are appointed will be paid by the county, and the commissioners insist that any men who hold commissions as deputy sheriffs must not receive pay from the railroad. This means, the commissioners said after the meeting, that Sheriff Birdsell must withdraw the commissions of the six men he appointed deputy sheriffs a few days ago on the request of the Short Line. The sheriff is understood to have told the commissioners yesterday afternoon that he will do this at once.

The peace officers of the county must be strictly impartial, the commissioners announced, and the county's attitude throughout the controversy must be one of enforcing strict compliance with the law by both sides.

Three Hurt When Auto Turns Over

Three Colorado Springs men, E. H. Spurgeon, chief clerk of the Florence & Cripple Creek railway, H. H. Smith and W. H. Campbell, were injured early yesterday morning when the automobile in which they were riding overturned on the Pueblo road near Widefield. The accident, it is believed, was caused by the bursting of a tire. Spurgeon, who was the most seriously injured, sustained a bad fracture at the base of the skull. He is at St. Francis hospital and was reported as somewhat improved last night. He is not conscious, however, and it is not known just how badly he is injured. Campbell was badly bruised. The crew of a southbound Denver & Rio Grande freight train, who witnessed the accident, went to the aid of the injured men, and later put them on a passenger train on which they were brought to this city.

SPRINGS-TO-GULF TOUR

PRODUCTIVE OF RESULTS

Many Auto Parties Are Now Here Following Work Done by Boosters on Recent Trip South

Direct results of the Colorado-to-the-Gulf automobile sociability run are in evidence every day in the large number of autos from Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas now visiting in the Pike's Peak region.

One day recently, there were unloading at the Santa Fe depot 15 automobiles from Texas and southern points, and there is hardly a day that each of the railroads entering Colorado Springs does not bring a shipment of automobiles. This is in addition to the heavy travel overland.

In a letter to the Colorado Springs Chamber of Commerce yesterday, E. E. Edwards of Fort Worth, secretary of the Texas State Automobile association, asked for information for a large party of motorists who are planning a trip over the Colorado-to-the-Gulf highway to Colorado Springs, and after touring the route radiating from this city, will continue in Yellowstone National park, probably over the Pike's Peak Ocean-to-Ocean highway.

THE WHITE HOUSE GARDEN

Flower Beds With Their Profusion of Blossoms Testify to Mrs. Wilson's Skill

From the New York Herald.

The bewildering mass of roses shading from the deepest crimson to the palest pink, now blooming in the White house gardens, gives evidence of Mrs. Wilson's skill as a landscape gardener and rose culturist.

In this garden, screened from public view by the main White house on the east, the office buildings on the west and the extending north terrace, or wing, Mrs. Wilson has passed many busy hours. Here she takes the air and during her convalescence from her recent illness her progress was registered by the frequency of her visits to the gardens and the duration of her stay. In the last few weeks Mrs. Wilson has spent much time looking over the bushes, plucking the choicest specimens for the bouquet which always stands on the president's desk or gathering nosegays for particular friends.

Mrs. Wilson's garden has directly opposite the garden of the 28th Roosevelt had planted when she was a child. In the last few weeks Mrs. Wilson has spent much time looking over the bushes, plucking the choicest specimens for the bouquet which always stands on the president's desk or gathering nosegays for particular friends.

No one takes greater pleasure in the roses than the president, whose outdoor office or tent is pitched at the far end of the garden.

Rising in masses the young bushes, which were set out last fall under Mrs. Wilson's personal direction, sweep tier after tier northward. The center bushes have roses of the palest red shades; those at either end pale from bluish-rose pink to the palest pink.

The garden to the south is flanked by a wonderful bed of jolly-rose and snapdragons, and other old-fashioned flowers, the entire scheme having been thought out by Mrs. Wilson, who had the garden planned on last fall shortly after her return from Europe.

Subsequently, with her daughters and Miss Helen Woodrow Bones, the president's cousin, spent much time not only in directing the work but in many instances taking a hand themselves and working for several hours at a time. The planting and arrangement of the garden follows a course that Mrs. Wilson has observed at the White house.

GLASS HOUSES IN FUTURE

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Berlin-Paul Scheerbarth, a widely known writer, prophesies that the architecture of the future will be of glass and that the world will be inhabited by a happy race, living under the good influence of light.

"The houses will be of glass," he says, "with all wood eliminated. The furniture will be of wrought iron, and the framework of the buildings will be of iron, rustproof, while the walls will be of double glass to insure warmth, and of many colors in order to baffle inquisitive persons.

"The buildings will be heated by electricity and the walls decorated in Tiffany majolic effects. The porch of every home will have three sides of glass, and there will be glass garden houses, where one may live in sunshine by day, and starlight by night."

THE FRANKLIN CALENDAR

It is true many people are fond of accounts of old buildings and monuments, and for one I confess that if I could find in any Italian travel a receipt for making Parmesan cheese, it would give me more satisfaction than a transcript of any inscription from any stone whatever. ## Choice $4,000 Oil Investment

A gilt-edge oil lease in Oklahoma between the Glenn Pool and Cushing Field. No further investment necessary for large profit. Four large productive wells in adjoining section.

Immediate action necessary, as well as now being drilled on adjoining 200 feet from line. Down 1,000 feet; contracted for 2,500 feet, and as striking this well would increase value of this lease to from $25,000 to $50,000, offer subject to withdrawal without notice. This is personally known by me to be one of the safest and surest oil investments in the Oklahoma field.

Will sell lease at actual cost, without commission, to party who will allow me one-fourth the profit on investment. Telephone.

'Rody' Carries Empty Case Back to Town

As a general rule Chorister Rode-heaver of the Sunday party is about the least excitable man imaginable. Yesterday at Calhan, however, he lost his self-possession.

Billy Sunday thought he hadn't time enough to make the trip to Colorado Springs so as to reach here for the afternoon meeting. Consequently, he rushed the whole party from the platform to the automobile. "Rody" snatched up his trombone case and ran to catch the machine in which the party was riding. Throughout the long trip back he carefully held the case across his knees, protecting it from all jars.

One can easily imagine his surprise when the Rev. W. E. Bennett walked into the tabernacle just as he started the song service yesterday afternoon with the much-cared-for trombone.

"You left it on the platform at Calhan," he said. "Rody" hasn't joked any member of the party since.

The Case of L. L. Cantelous

The case of L. L. Cantelous, Clark, Texas, is similar to that of many others who have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

He says: "After giving a doctor several months, and using different kinds of medicine for my wife, I had been troubled with severe bowel complaint for several months. I bought a 25c bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. After using the second bottle she was entirely cured." For sale by all dealers.
